

Michael

Aug 18, 2012 at 1:31 pm

"Orgonite vendors exist only to serve those who are not able to or interested in making orgonite themselves" sorry but who do these guys want to tell this bullshit? I know several orgonite vendors personally and they are as interested in "saving" the planet as any other business, I am sure there are orgonite vendors selling that artificial plastic stuff with all good intention and even to make it their contribution to make the world a better place, but after experimenting since years with orgonite, cloudbusters, plasterite, electromagneto culture, and many many more the last thing I'd use is orgonite cones and pyramids to distribute them into the nature. Plasterite is a much better alternative, easier to handle, 100% biodegradable, cheaper, and is not fooling around with forces few people know about. They degrade with the years but are dirt cheap and so easy to replace, or if you insist you can go THAT place only once then paint them with some bio paint. Propagating orgonite without a proper research isn't the best of ideas as people will open gateways to forces they know nothing about, with all the best intention of course. The sorcerers apprentice times 1000. And since orgonite fanatics show the same symptoms like all other fanatics, excluding everything else from their vision by declaring it useless, weak or worse and attacking everybody who wants to advance the subject I don't see any reason to propagate to bring out even more poisonous plastic as there is already. Even Don Croft, one of the best known orgonauts lost all credibility in my eyes when he wrote bullshit about plasterite. He only showed me that he never did any proper research with it and got the same blinders as a cart horse. I for myself only talk about stuff I know, I tried, I tested, and if that works then I'll advise others to try for themselves. I talk about stuff I believe in and if this is a question of believe then I say so as everybody else has to make his own believes and create his own world. I'd not advise anybody to get into orgonite as far as that plastic stuff is concerned. orgonite akkumulators as described by Reich, or orgon blankets etc are a different ball game, that I would say is something one should try for him or herself. It shows results and I know a guy who built a 21 layer orgon egg big enough for several people to sit in. He has boxes full of protocols by people who were meditating or just sitting in there for some time. The weirdest things one can imagine happened and all research was kept secret and the guy sent to prison with trumped up and fake charges for nearly ten years. All I want to say is, do your own research and don't get to "active" without knowing what the stuff you handle is about and what it can lead to. Just because there are forces you can't see it means you can fool around as you wish. You will have to bear the consequences no matter what dimension or energy level you fool around with. Just ask yourself, is plastic found as it is used in an HHG or orgonite cone like that in nature, are the iron, copper or other metals found as they are used there like that in nature? Ask the same questions for plasterite and if you're honest with yourself and listen to your intuition you will make a decision you can stand behind and defend. My bet wishes, Mike

Reply

Michael

Jun 3, 2012 at 10:46 am

@Shaun – Hi Shaun, thanks for the answer, at last sby who pays a little attention 😊 But since Croft wrote about Plasterite he outed himself to me as another bullshitter. I tried all kinds of stuff and systems i could find, and always do, because i very much believe in what i SEE or TRY for myself what works or won t. I know plasterite does its job, very similar to Orgonite but not identical. And what i see in the Orgonite community is very few open or better said tolerant people. It s THEIR opinion or fuck off. Detail ridden fanatics when you go through the forums. Sad that is, but not my problem, it s theirs. Plasterite is not Orgonite and comparing the 2 is like comparing apples and pears. They both can be eaten but they taste different. If you re open to new things try and do a Agnihotra. You ll wrap up orgonite in a rush. There s much more harmony in it than in any other system, device, gadget i ever encountered. And so much more to do with the resulting ash. As for David Icke, he is the only one, except for Andreas Clauss and Peter Fitzek i ever saw actually offering sth the does change our world to the better, wether he talks about orgonite or not i couldn t care less. He is doing his thing going his way, weather Reptilians exist in the 4th or 5th or whatsoever dimension, everybody who can see auras will confirm they can be seen reflected there! Let 5 blindfolded people touch an elephant on 5 different places and they ll give you 5 versions of what they touched, bit it s still an elephant. I judge people by what they do and not their talk. So few do and so many talk, that s why so little changes. Again, not my problem 😊 i ll make my way and so does the rest of the world, keep cool, it s just a ride anyway 😊 cheers, Mike

Reply

Shaun

Jun 3, 2012 at 12:26 pm

The plasterite sham was thought up a few years ago as a way of trying to derail the orgonite movement – it failed miserably.

Here are some Kirilian (aura) photo's of orgonite compared to a Kirilian photo of plasterite along with some technical information.

<http://www.ethericwarriors.com/tp/Viewtopic.php?t=2867>

Reply

Michael

Jun 3, 2012 at 10:46 am

@Shaun – Hi Shaun, thanks for the answer, at last sby who pays a little attention 😊 But since Croft wrote about Plasterite he outed himself to me as another bullshitter. I tried all kinds of stuff and systems i could find, and always do, because i very much believe in what i SEE or TRY for myself what works or won t. I know plasterite does its job, very similar to Orgonite but not identical. And what i see in the Orgonite community is very few open or better said tolerant people. It s THEIR opinion or fuck off. Detail ridden fanatics when you go through the forums. Sad that is, but not my problem, it s theirs. Plasterite is not Orgonite and comparing the 2 is like comparing apples and pears. They both can be eaten but they taste different. If you re open to new things try and do a Agnihotra. You ll wrap up orgonite in a rush. There s much more harmony in it than in any other system, device, gadget i ever encountered. And so much more to do with the resulting ash. As for David Icke, he is the only one, except for Andreas Clauss and Peter Fitzek i ever saw actually offering sth the does change our world to the better, wether he talks about orgonite or not i couldn t care less. He is doing his thing going his way, weather Reptilians exist in the 4th or 5th or whatsoever dimension, everybody who can see auras will confirm they can be seen reflected there! Let 5 blindfolded people touch an elephant on 5 different places and they ll give you 5 versions of what they touched, bit it s still an elephant. I judge people by what they do and not their talk. So few do and so many talk, that s why so little changes. Again, not my problem 😊 i ll make my way and so does the rest of the world, keep cool, it s just a ride anyway 😊 cheers, Mike

Reply

Shaun

Jun 3, 2012 at 12:26 pm

The plasterite sham was thought up a few years ago as a way of trying to derail the orgonite movement – it failed miserably.

Here are some Kirilian (aura) photo's of orgonite compared to a Kirilian photo of plasterite along with some technical information.

<http://www.ethericwarriors.com/tp/viewtopic.php?t=2867>

Reply